PART III

CUSTODY, ACCESS AND GUARDIANSHIP

Definitions

15. (1) In this Part,

"extra-territorial order" means an order, or that part of an order, of an extra-territorial tribunal that grants to a person custody of or access to a child; (ordonnance extraterritoriale)

"extra-territorial tribunal" means a court or tribunal outside Nunavut that has jurisdiction to grant to a person custody of or access to a child; (tribunal extraterritorial)

"parental or separation agreement" means a parental agreement or separation agreement, both defined in section 2 of the Family Law Act, and includes an agreement or contract in the nature of such a parental agreement or separation agreement that is deemed to be a domestic contract under section 13 of that Act. (accord parental ou de séparation)

Reference to child

(2) In this Part, a reference to a child is a reference to the child while a minor. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Purposes of Part

16. The purposes of this Part are

- (a) to ensure that applications to the courts in respect of custody of, incidents of custody of, access to and guardianship for children will be determined in accordance with the best interests of the children, with a recognition that differing cultural values and practices must be respected in that determination;
- (b) to recognize that the concurrent exercise of jurisdiction by judicial tribunals of more than one province, territory or state in respect of the custody of the same child ought to be avoided, and to make provision so that the court will, unless there are exceptional circumstances, decline or refrain from exercising jurisdiction in cases where it is more appropriate for the matter to be determined by a tribunal having jurisdiction in another place with which the child has a closer connection;
- (c) to discourage, in conjunction with the International Child Abduction Act, the abduction of children as an alternative to the determination of custody rights by due process; and
- (d) to provide for the more effective enforcement of custody and access orders and for the recognition and enforcement of custody and access orders made outside Nunavut.

S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

DIVISION A – CUSTODY AND ACCESS

Best Interests Test

Best interests of child

17. (1) The merits of an application under this Division in respect of custody of or access to a child shall be determined in accordance with the best interests of the child, with a recognition that differing cultural values and practices must be respected in that determination.

Considerations in determining best interests

(2) In determining the best interests of a child for the purposes of an application under this Division in respect of custody of or access to a child, the court shall consider all the needs and circumstances of the child including

- (a) the love, affection and emotional ties between the child and
 - (i) each person entitled to or seeking custody or access,
 - (ii) other members of the child's family, and
 - (iii) persons involved in the care and upbringing of the child;
- (b) the child's views and preferences if they can be reasonably ascertained;
- (c) the child's cultural, linguistic and spiritual or religious upbringing and ties;
- (d) the ability and willingness of each person seeking custody to, directly or indirectly, provide the child with guidance, education and necessities of life and provide for any special needs of the child;
- (e) the ability of each person seeking custody or access to act as a parent;
- (f) who, from among those persons entitled to custody or access, has been primarily responsible for the care of the child, including care of the child's daily physical and social needs, arrangements for alternative care for the child where it is required, arrangements for the child's health care and interaction with the child through, among other things, teaching, playing, conversation, reading and discipline;
- (g) the effect a change of residence will have on the child;
- (h) the permanence and stability of the family unit within which it is proposed that the child live;
- (i) any plans proposed for the care and upbringing of the child;
- (j) the relationship, by blood or through adoption, between the child and each person seeking custody or access; and
- (k) the willingness of each person seeking custody to facilitate access between the child and a parent of the child who is seeking custody or access.

Further consideration – act of violence

(3) In determining the best interests of a child for the purposes of an application under this Division in respect of custody of or access to a child, the court shall also consider any evidence that a person seeking custody or access has at any time committed an act of violence against his or her spouse, former spouse, child, child's parent or any other member of the person's household or family and any effect that such conduct had, is having or may have on the child.

Consideration of past conduct

(4) Subject to subsection (3), a person's past conduct may be considered in an application under this Part in respect of custody of or access to a child only where the court is satisfied that it is relevant to the person's ability to act as a parent.

Economic circumstances may not be considered

(5) The economic circumstances of a person seeking custody or access are not relevant to the person's ability to act as a parent.

Entitlement, Appointment and Application for Order

Entitlement to custody

18. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this Division, the parents of a child are equally entitled to custody.

Rights and responsibilities

(2) A person entitled to custody of a child has the rights and responsibilities of a parent in respect of the person of the child.

May act for child

(3) Without limiting the generality of subsection (2), a person entitled to custody of a child may act for and on behalf of the child, except where the person's authority is otherwise limited by the law of Nunavut or court order.

Authority of one to act

(4) Where more than one person is entitled to custody of a child, any one of them may exercise the rights and accept the responsibilities of a parent on behalf of them in respect of the child.

Where parents live separate and apart

(5) The right of a parent to exercise the entitlement of custody of a child and the incidents of custody, but not the entitlement to access to the child, is suspended until a parental or separation agreement or a court order otherwise provides where

- (a) the parents of the child live separate and apart and the child lives with the other parent; and
- (b) the parent has consented, either expressly or by implication, or acquiesced to the other parent having sole custody of the child.

Access

(6) The entitlement to access to a child includes the right to visit with and be visited by the child and the same right as a parent to make inquiries and to be given information as to the health, education and welfare of the child.

Marriage of child

(7) The entitlement to custody of or access to a child terminates on the marriage of the child.

Alteration by agreement or order

(8) Any entitlement to custody or incidents of custody or to access under this section is subject to alteration by a court order or by a parental or separation agreement. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5); S.Nu. 2011,c.25,s.4(8).

 - (i) by valid will, or
 - (ii) by written instrument signed by the appointor, where the appointor is a minor and unmarried.

Where appointee is a minor

- (a) if the appointment is or is to be effective during the lifetime of the appointor, in writing; or
- (b) if the appointment is to take effect after the death of the appointor,
 - (i) by valid will, or
 - (ii) by written instrument signed by the appointor, where the appointor is a minor and unmarried.

Application or order under this Division

(6) An appointment under this section does not prevent an application for or the making of an order under this Division in respect of custody and access.

Implied revocation

(7) For greater certainty, an appointment made under this section by will is revoked if the will is revoked.

Application for order

20. (1) A parent of a child or any other person may apply to a court for an order respecting custody of or access to the child or determining any aspect of the incidents of custody of the child.

Application for leave

Powers of court

- (3) On an application under subsection (1), the court may
- (a) grant custody of or access to the child to one or more persons;
 - (b) determine any aspect of the incidents of custody or the right to access and make such order in respect of the determination as the court considers appropriate; and
 - (c) make such additional order as the court considers necessary and proper in the circumstances.

Application to fix times or days of access where order

21. (1) Where an order made in respect of access to a child provides for a person's access to the child without specifying times or days, a party to the order may apply to the court that made it to vary it by specifying times or days.

Order

(2) On an application under subsection (1), the court may vary the order by specifying the times or days agreed to by the parties or, where the parties do not agree, the times or days the court considers appropriate.

Application to fix times or days of access where agreement

(3) Where a parental or separation agreement provides for a person's access to a child without specifying times or days and the parties to the agreement cannot agree on the times or days, a party to the agreement may apply to a court to fix times or days for access.

Order

(4) On an application under subsection (3), the court may fix the times or days the court considers appropriate.

Variation of order

22. (1) A court shall not make an order under this Division that varies an order in respect of custody or access made by a court in Nunavut unless there has been a material change in circumstances that affects or is likely to affect the best interests of the child.

Exception

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply in respect of an application made under section 21. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Supervision of custody or access

23. Where an order is made for custody of or access to a child, a court may give such directions as it considers appropriate for the supervision of the custody or access by a person who has consented to act as supervisor.

Where written reasons required

24. A court shall provide written reasons for its decision where, on an application under this Division, the court

- (a) grants custody of a child to more than one person notwithstanding the objection of one party to such an order; or
- (b) makes an order setting out a custody arrangement that was not requested by a party.

Court's Exercise of Jurisdiction

- (a) the child is habitually resident in Nunavut at the commencement of the application for the order; or

 - (i) the child is physically present in Nunavut at the commencement of the application for the order,
 - (ii) substantial evidence concerning the best interests of the child is available in Nunavut,
 - (iii) no application for custody of or access to the child is pending before an extra-territorial tribunal in another place where the child is habitually resident,
 - (iv) no extra-territorial order in respect of custody of or access to the child has been recognized by a court in Nunavut;

- (a) both parents;
 - (b) one parent under a parental or separation agreement or a court order or with the consent, implied consent or acquiescence of the other, if the parents are living separate and apart; or
 - (c) a person other than a parent on a permanent basis for a significant period of time.

Effect of removal or withholding

(3) The removal or withholding of a child without the consent of the person having custody of the child does not alter the habitual residence of the child unless there has been acquiescence or undue delay in commencing process for the return of the child by the person from whom the child is removed or withheld. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Exercise of jurisdiction where serious harm may result

26. Notwithstanding sections 25 and 34, a court may exercise jurisdiction to make or to vary an order in respect of the custody of or access to a child where

- (a) the child is physically present in Nunavut; and
 - (b) the court is satisfied that the child would, on the balance of probabilities, suffer serious harm if
 - (i) the child remains in the custody of the person legally entitled to custody of the child,
 - (ii) the child is returned to the custody of the person legally entitled to custody of the child, or
 - (iii) the child is removed from Nunavut.
- S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Declining jurisdiction

27. A court having jurisdiction under this Division in respect of custody or access may decline to exercise its jurisdiction where it is of the opinion that it is more appropriate for jurisdiction to be exercised outside Nunavut. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Orders where court does not exercise full jurisdiction

28. Where a court may not exercise jurisdiction under section 25, has declined jurisdiction under section 27 or subsection 35(2) or is satisfied that a child has been wrongfully detained in Nunavut, the court may do any one or more of the following:

- (a) make such interim order in respect of custody or access as the court considers is in the best interests of the child;
- (b) direct a party to the application to promptly commence a similar proceeding before an extra-territorial tribunal or make such other order as the court considers appropriate and provide that, when the application is commenced and the order otherwise complied with, the application under this Act is stayed;

- (c) order a party to return the child to such place as the court considers appropriate and, in the discretion of the court, order payment of the cost of the reasonable travel and other expenses of the child and any parties to or at the hearing of the application or of witnesses at the hearing of the application.
S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Conflicting orders

(3) Where a court is presented with conflicting orders made by extra-territorial tribunals for the custody of or access to a child that, but for the conflict, would be recognized and enforced by the court under subsection (1), the court shall recognize and enforce the order that appears to the court to be in the best interests of the child.

Further orders

(4) A court that has recognized an extra-territorial order may make such further orders under this Division as the court considers necessary to give effect to the order. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

Superseding order, material change in circumstances

35. (1) On application, a court may make an order that supersedes an extra-territorial order in respect of custody of or access to a child where the court is satisfied that there has been a material change in circumstances that affects or is likely to affect the best interests of the child and

- (a) the child is habitually resident in Nunavut at the commencement of the application for the order; or
- (b) although the child is not habitually resident in Nunavut, the court is satisfied that
 - (i) the child is physically present in Nunavut at the commencement of the application for the order,
 - (ii) the child no longer has a real and substantial connection with the place where the extra-territorial order was made,
 - (iii) substantial evidence concerning the best interests of the child is available in Nunavut,

- (b) the child is returned to the custody of the person entitled to custody of the child; or
- (c) the child is removed from Nunavut.

A copy of an extra-territorial order purporting to be certified as a true copy by a judge, other presiding officer or registrar of the extra-territorial tribunal that made the order or by a person charged with keeping the orders of the extra-territorial tribunal is admissible in evidence without proof of the office or signature of the person appearing to have signed it and, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, is proof of the making and content of the order.

Judicial notice

38. For the purposes of an application under this Part, a court may take notice, without requiring formal proof, of the law of a jurisdiction outside Nunavut and of a decision of an extra-territorial tribunal. S.Nu. 2010,c.11,s.1(5).

"child" means a person who

- (a) is a minor and who has not withdrawn from the charge of his or her parents, or
- (b) is the age of majority or over, but who is unable, by reason of illness, disability, pursuit of reasonable education or other cause, to withdraw from a parent's charge; (enfant)

"parent", in relation to a particular child, includes a person who stands in the place of a parent for the child, except under an arrangement where the child is placed for valuable consideration in a foster home by a person having lawful custody. (père ou mère ou parents)

58. A parent has an obligation to provide support for his or her child where the parent is capable of doing so.

Order for support

- (2) An application for an order under subsection (1) may be made by
- (a) another parent or a person who has lawful custody of the child or with whom the child lives;

Where court may award different amount

- (a) special provisions in an order, a judgment or a written agreement respecting the financial obligations of the parents or, where the parents are spouses, the division or transfer of their property, directly or indirectly benefit the child or that special provisions have otherwise been made for the benefit of the child; and

- (b) the application of the applicable guidelines would result in an amount of support that is inequitable given the special provisions referred to in paragraph (a).

Where written reasons required

(2) Where the court awards, under subsection (1), an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the applicable guidelines, the court shall provide written reasons for its decision.

Consent orders

Where amount agreed to is not the same

Setting aside provision in domestic contract

59.2. A court may set aside a provision respecting support for a child in a domestic contract and may determine and order support for the child in an application under section 59 notwithstanding that the domestic contract may contain an express provision excluding the application of this section, where

- (b) the provision is in respect of a child who qualifies for an allowance for support out of public money;

- (e) requiring that support be paid in respect of any period before the date of the order;
- (f) requiring payment to the Minister responsible for the Social Assistance Act of an amount in reimbursement for assistance provided to the child under that Act before the date of the order;

- (h) requiring that a parent who has a policy of life insurance as defined in the Insurance Act designate the child as the beneficiary irrevocably;
